

Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston, Inc.
13810 Champion Forest Dr, Suite 140 ★ Houston, Texas 77069
281/440-4380 www.mcahouston.org

Associate Membership in the
Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston, Inc.

Your principal benefits from membership come in the form of opportunities to meet and network among the mechanical contractors with whom you do business.

Your membership will introduce you and your company to a group of the finest mechanical contractors around. Our association hosts periodic lunch meetings of mechanical firms and associate members. These lunch meetings are a wonderful opportunity for you to meet mechanical contractor firm principals, project managers, estimators and other key staff. Your membership dues pre-pay attendance for three at each periodic meeting (others from your firm are welcomed to attend as well, we will bill for each additional person in attendance - presently $60.00).

In addition to the periodic Joint Membership Meetings, the Association will produce events through the year, dates and location to be determined.

Associate membership dues are $330.00 annually, payable in advance, for the year beginning January 1 through December 31.

Rules and Procedures for and by Associate Members of the Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston

An associate member shall be a person, firm or corporation operating in the capacity of Supplier, Manufacturer's Representative, or actively pursuing the business of furnishing material, supplies or equipment, or rendering a service to mechanical subcontractors.

Any person, firm or corporation may make application for membership in the association. All applications for associate membership shall be recommended to the joint membership for consideration. It shall take a three fourths (3/4) affirmative vote of the joint membership present and voting for the applicant to become an associate member in this Association.

Associate membership shall entitle the holder thereof to be represented by two persons on the floor at each periodic membership meeting and further entitles a single representative to vote on matters directly affecting the Associate Members.

Associate membership does not grant this association the bargaining rights of the associate member, nor bind the associate member to any bargaining agreement consummated by this association and any Labor Union. Associate membership does not include membership in the Mechanical Contractors Association of Texas and in the Mechanical Contractors Association of America. Associate membership does not bestow any other legal rights, privileges or connotations in this association, except as provided in these Rules and Procedures for and by Associate Members.

Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston, Inc.

13810 Champion Forest Dr, Suite 140 ★ Houston, Texas 77069
ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

Firm Name

Individual Name

Mailing Address

Owner, Principal Name

City, State, Zip

Years in business

Phone

FAX Phone

Internet Address

E-Mail Address

Referred By

I (we) hereby apply for associate membership in the Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston, such membership to be contingent upon a favorable three-fourths (3/4) majority vote of the present joint membership at the next regularly scheduled general meeting of this Association.

I (we) hereby state that I (we) have been furnished with a copy of the Rules and Procedures for and by Associate Members and further agree to subscribe to all of the provisions of same.

I (we)) further state that I (we) will pay when presented with a statement, the associate membership dues of the Association, as determined by the Rules and Procedures for and by Associate Members.

I (we) are active in the mechanical field in provision of the following supplies/or services:

Signature

Title

Listed below are names of qualified executives of the applicant firm who qualify under the Rules and Procedures for and by Associate Members to represent the applicant firm at Association Meetings with voting privileges:

Name

Name

Title

Title

Complete and return to: Mechanical Contractors Association of Houston, Inc.
13810 Champion Forest Dr, Suite 140 ★ Houston, Texas 77069